Mardi Gras Madness Pub Crawl

Uptown

Sure, traditions are fun. But is it absolutely necessary to celebrate Fat Tuesday on a Tuesday? If you're looking to get your Mardi Gras groove on, yet avoid a humpday hangover next week, try making a Saturday of it by stopping through four popular North Side bars for a Mardi Gras pub crawl, hosted by the Buena Park Neighbors Association. Start in the early afternoon at The Bar on Buena (910 W. Buena Ave.), and use your $10 wristband to carry on from there to Michael's Pizzeria and Tavern (4091 N. Broadway), Holiday Club (4000 N. Sheridan Road) and Nick's Uptown (4015 N. Sheridan Road). Arrive in masquerade wear for the costume contest, flaunt your karaoke skills and enter the several raffles to walk away with a prize to accompany that hangover. Buenaparkneighbors.org. When: 2 p.m.

MUSH

Chiditarod West Town

Roll out of bed and unload your kitchen into a grocery bag for the sixth annual Chiditarod, part food drive, part shopping-cart race. Sign-ups are long gone, but your part, that of the spectator, is just as vital. Teams of five mush with decorated carts and costumes along a designated street route, stopping at checkpoints along the way to collect food items from friends and supporters. Show up at the starting line (Wolcott Avenue and Hubbard Street) to find locations of checkpoints and help your favorite team cross the finish line with the required 42 pounds of food. The wild costumes and carts are sights to see, and being charitable is always a good thing, but if you're still not convinced, there's usually a fantastic after-party following the race. Free. When: Noon. Saturday.

LAUGH

The Late Live Show Lincoln Park

With most late-night talk shows filmed on either coast, the absurdity of Chicago's news and ripe pickings of excellent guests often get overlooked. Back for a second season after a mostly sold-out first, local funny guy Joe Kwaczala fills the void and takes on solo hosting duties at the weekly late-night comedy and variety hour at Second City's DeMaat Studio Theater (1616 N. Wells St. Piper's Alley, Third Floor 312-337-3992). Expect the typical late-night talk show formula—monologues, sketches, interviews, music—with a Chicago twist. Kwaczala chats with author Rebecca Skloot, and local indie rock band They All Have Legs perform at the season opener. $5. When: Midnight. Saturday.

Becker Lane Pig Out The Loop

The phrase "You're full of bologna" takes on a much different meaning if you're headed to the pork-centric meal with a few of Chicago's top hog chefs. Chef Tony Mantuano of Spiaggia teams up with Jude Becker of Becker Lane Organic Farm for a four-course dinner at Terzo Piano (159 E. Monroe St. 312-443-8650), featuring dishes from each of Mantuano's restaurants: Spiaggia, Cafe Spiaggia, Terzo Piano, Mangia and The Purple Pig. A different portion of the pig is used in each course. $100.

When: 6-10 p.m. Saturday.

Say farewell to gym's pests

For regular gym members, Independence Day arrives March 1.

It's the day we say farewell to the last of the short-timers whose New Year's resolutions to work out have been broken. Their wills—and their two-month trial memberships—have expired, and now they're free to go back to their indulgent ways.

Finally, the rest of us can take back the gyms from the amateurs who made getting on the ellipticals harder than finding a parking spot in the Loop. Sure, I'll miss some of the scantily clad newbies who came in to give Zumba a shot, but I'm calling out the rest of the etiquette-unaware folks who made our gym experiences miserable for the past two months.

Good riddance to ...

The Baby Boomers, who staked their claims to every single floor mat in their "Flashdance" attire. You were "maniacs" on the gym floor, but even Jennifer Beals has moved on to "The Chicago Code."

The loud former frat boys attached at the hips, who monopolized all the machines and made us wait at least an hour while they did only one set. You now can do your grunting and chest-bumping at an Ohio State reunion in Edgewater.

Little miss Niagara Falls. For some reason, she never considered wiping down equipment after sweating all over it. You did know the towels were free, right?

The grown man who wore a helmet while riding the recumbent bike. I am all for safety but, come on, the bike is stationary.

The saggy old-timer hanging around the lockers in the nude, watching reruns on TV and reminiscing about Ernie Banks. You may have accepted your body for what it is, but the rest of the world did not.

The gentlemen in the parking lot having a final drag of their men-thols before hitting the treadmill. You smelled like Ke$ha, and doing cardio behind you was like following a semi-truck full of manure on I-94 in Gary.

The hyper-flexible yoga expert who would put circus performers to shame. Your tendency to do downward facing dog 2 feet from us when we're trying to bench press our body weight was kinda distracting.

The dine-and-dasher who used every machine in the entire club for just one rep, interrupting and ruining everyone else's regimen.

The MILF in full makeup who dropped serious moolah on perfectly matched workout clothes while her husband rolled into the gym looking like he just crawled out of the sewer. Please share your wardrobe budget with him.

"I was naive and unaware of who I was booked to perform for. I feel horrible and embarrassed to have participated in this mess. Going forward, this is a lesson for all artists to learn from. We need to be more aware and take more responsibility regardless of who books our shows."

—Mariah Carey, on the revelation she performed for associates of Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi. Carey joined Beyonce and Nelly Furtado this week in distancing herself from Gadhafi. WILLIAM DESHAZER/TRIBUNE FILE

That's what they said!

Is it possible to out-quote the guy who said, "I am on a drug. It's called Charlie Sheen"? RedEye gives it a shot with these non-Charlie-Sheen-related sound bites from the past week.

"HE WAS FUNNIER THAN I EXPECTED."

—Dan Sinker (left), the 36-year-old Columbia College journalism assistant professor behind the @MayorEmanuel Twitter handle, on meeting the real Rahm Emanuel. ABEL URIBE/TRIBUNE PHOTO

"'The Bachelor' is the show we watch. I like it because there's 25 girls on the show and I can have something to look at."

—Patrick Sharp, Blackhawks forward and alternate team captain, on the TV he watches with his wife, Abby. CHRIS SWEDA/TRIBUNE

"'Sticks and stones may break your bones, but watching naked people on stage doing pleasurable things will never hurt you.'"

—Northwestern human sexuality professor John Michael Bailey, as quoted by the Huffington Post, on the controversy surrounding his decision to allow a live sex toy demonstration during an after-class event last month.

"We've been working on this product for a while and I just didn't want to miss today."

—Apple CEO Steve Jobs, who has been on a leave of absence, on his surprise appearance at the announcement of iPad 2

Chi style meets at the intersection of smart and smartass. It's practical (hello, sleet and snow) but with an attitude. MICHIGAN AVENUE

Amy Herman

25, Streeterville

Jacket is from Nordstrom.

"I usually shop at inexpensive/thrift stores, and my look is inspired by the vintage look."

Jared Hatch

25, Streeterville
Jacket is from Saks, boots are Prada, belt is from Neil Barrett, shirt from Gamma Player, hat from Walgreens.
"Conceptual art helps inspire my look."

Latesha Buford

28, South Side
What's your favorite item you have on? I would say my leggings. They are very comfortable—I can move around in them.
Where did you get them? Wal-Mart!
Where do you normally shop? On State Street.

MILWAUKEE AVENUE

Lauren Dudko

28, Wicker Park

Where do you shop? I work at City Soles, and that's where I got my boots and glasses. I also love to shop at Buffalo Exchange and Crossroads because they are cheap!

What's your favorite item you have on? My glasses, because they are futuristic and I love the future.

Justin Smith

28, Logan Square

Describe your fashion sense.

I would call myself a thrift store whore.

What thrift stores do you frequent?

I moved to Chicago less than a year ago, but I've been frequenting Hollywood Mirror.

What's your favorite item you're wearing? My pair of vintage Air Force 1s.

What year? 1996

HOT SHOPPING STRIPS

(see map at top)

MICHIGAN AVENUE/GOLD COAST

1 Zara

700 N. Michigan Ave. 312-255-8123

This trilevel Spanish superstore is known for emulating runway looks at down-to-earth prices—meaning more than fellow Euro import H&M but much less than the real thing. (For men and women)

2 Original Penguin

901 N. Rush St. 312-475-0792

This 1950s golf brand known for outfitting dapper dudes such as Bing Crosby has evolved into the ultimate in geek chic. In a small storefront just off Michigan Avenue, shop preppy-with-a-twist basics such as cardigan sweaters, track jackets and classic polos, never without the embroidered penguin logo. (For men and women)

MILWAUKEE AVENUE

3 Brooklyn Industries

1426 N. Milwaukee Ave. 773-360-8182

This utterly urban Brooklyn-born purveyor of printed T-shirts, sturdy bags and other funky threads for men and women is holding its own in Wicker Park.

4 City Soles/Niche

1566 N. Damen Ave./2001 W. North Ave. 773-489-2001

This two-faced shoe showroom is named Niche from the Damen Avenue entrance and City Soles from the North Avenue entrance; in between it's table after table of funky heels, trendy sandals and hefty boots. (For men and women)

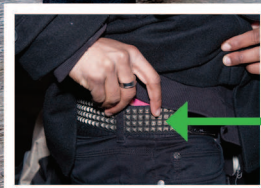

BELMONT AVENUE

Paris Adams 23, North Side
You're wearing all black. I'm not really into the bright colors. I think they clash with me. Not my personality.

What's your favorite item you have on?
Belt from American Eagle.

What attracted you to it? Just the studs—they are different from the regular studded belts.

Sam Andolsen
19, Lakeview

Tell us about your outfit. I'm not dressed for the weather, but that's pretty much the norm. I have kind of leopard print problem, but I fully embrace it.

What's your favorite item of clothing?
Probably the hat.

Where do you usually shop?
Belmont Army, Urban Outfitters

What do you think makes Chicago fashion unique? It's just really diverse, there's not one specific look.

Kris De La Rash
23, Pilsen

Tell us about your outfit. My shoes are Keds; they are striped because I like stripes. Green is my favorite color, but I hate matching. So I coordinated green with some creams so it's sort of like winter desaturated colors.

Why do you like your Keds?
Because they are unique. I haven't run into anyone else in my hipster circle with them.

Where do you normally shop? I can't tell you that!

ARMITAGE AVENUE

Amy Creyer 24, Lincoln Park

Tell us about your outfit. I'm wearing my massive Mongolian lamb's-wool coat, American Apparel leggings and my snow boots. Underneath, I'm actually wearing an Alexander Wang motorcycle dress.

What's your favorite item you have on? My coat, it's a statement piece and such a conversation piece. People love to talk about my coat, which is great since I'm a street-style photographer.

Where do you normally shop? I like Kokorokoko in Ukrainian Village, and I shop online at etsy.com and ebay.com

Sum up your look. Comfortable urban luxury.

Nailah Walters
17, Bronzeville

Tell us about your jeans. I made them, I cut them up with a sharp knife and bleached them to give them a rougher look.

What jeans were they before you chopped them up?
Forever 21.

Taimur Ahmed
28, Edgewater

Tell us about your outfit. I am entirely in United Colors of Benetton.

Do you work there?
Yes, I manage there.

What makes Chicago fashion unique? You can tell what part of the city somebody is from by the way they dress.

6

2956 N. Clark St. 773-248-3758

This boutique packs plenty of personality into its small space. For the dudes, shop wear-em-to-death basic shirts, chunky knit hats and sleek wallets; for the dames, browse laser-cut jewelry, quirkily detailed dresses and layer-worthy leggings. (For men and women)

ARMITAGE & HALSTED

7

Lori's Shoes

824 W. Armitage Ave. 773-281-5655

From imported Italian boots to date-worthy stilettos, shoes are the main event at this bustling women's boutique, which sends its buyers on frequent scouting trips to bring back the latest trends.

8

Art Effect

934 W. Armitage Ave. 773-929-3600

SUSAN JACOBY

The Chicago Public Library welcomes Susan Jacoby, renowned author of The Age of American Unreason, who will discuss and sign her new book, Never Say Die: The Myth and Marketing of the New Old Age. The free program takes place on Thursday, March 10 at 6:00 p.m., in the Cindy Pritzker Auditorium (Lower Level) at the Harold Washington Library Center, 400 S. State St. Combining historical, social, and economic analysis with personal experiences, Jacoby turns a caustic eye on the modern fiction that old age can be "defied" and the American culture that it perpetuates. I thought I loved you, David Cassidy

BOOK
I Think I Love You
By Allison Pearson

By Susan Salter Reynolds

LOS ANGELES TIMES

Poor little Petra, just 13 and growing up in South Wales, is one of thousands of girls smitten with David Cassidy. The year is 1974, and Cassidy is the creation of a brilliant marketing campaign that preys on the hearts of teenage girls.

Cassidy was the star of the TV series "The Partridge Family." He went on to bubble-gum rock stardom before his career fizzled and died in a series of media scandals, including a nude spread in Rolling Stone and admitted drug and alcohol problems. Worst of all, in 1974, at a Cassidy concert in London's White City Stadium, a 14-year-old girl was crushed to death and nearly 1,000 fans were injured.

When the novel "I Think I Love You" opens, Petra and her friends are blissfully ignorant of these eventualities. Petra aces all the Cassidy quizzes and so enters into a mega-contest. First prize: a trip to California to meet her heartthrob in person.

Petra writes letters to her true love—and she receives replies! Little does she know that these replies come from Bill, who is hired to write replies to the thousands of girls who bare their souls each day. It pays the rent.

In this delightful, giddy novel, there can be no doubt that their lives will one day collide.

They meet twice. Once in 1974, when Bill is sent to the concert at White City Stadium, and again in 1998. Back in 1974, Petra was too disillusioned after the White City debacle to collect her prize for the great Cassidy quiz. In 1998, after a series of personal tragedies, she makes a drunken call to the magazine demanding the prize from long ago—a trip to America to meet Cassidy.

The magazine's editors—including Bill, who has graduated to editorial director—sense a golden opportunity. They will fly the 38-year-old woman to meet the aging superstar in Vegas. Imagine Petra's surprise when she learns that Bill, who goes along for the ride, was the literary hand of David Cassidy.

It's a fantastic, unbelievable plot, spun by a very funny writer from the impossibility of celebrity adoration and the gorgeous naivete of young love.

ALBUM
Wounded Rhymes
Lykke Li

Lykke Li's debut "Youth Novels" was a dance album brimming with childlike exuberance, from the charming "Dance, Dance, Dance" to the innocent "Little Bit." Um, something happened. On "Wounded Rhymes," Li grows into her dark side, unleashing the empty country-tinged echo of "Unrequited Love" and the defiant "Silent My Song." "Sadness Is a Blessing" revives '60s girl groups, while "Rich Kids Blues" could be her Swedish interpretation of Arcade Fire. Luckily, Li handles heartache as well as she handled happiness. GLENN GAMBOA, NEWSDAY

Kanye West continues his big-thinking ways in his video work with another mini-movie from the videomeister, Hype Williams. Rihanna and Kid Cudi make appearances in the video and the tune itself features vocals from a veritable who's who of pop music, including Elton John, Alicia Keys and John Legend. This is West's fourth single from the critically heralded "My Beautiful Dark Twisted Fantasy." SARAH ZUPKO, POPMATTERS.COM

Mario Sports Mix
Nintendo Wii

It'd be easy to write off "Mario Sports Mix" as a tired "Wii Sports" rehash with a quick coat of Mario Brothers-themed paint splashed over it. But if you game with a few friends, this is a fun, casual game to play—in short doses. You can craft teams from the franchise's many characters before taking on your opponents at hockey, basketball, volleyball and dodgeball. Offering 2-on-2 or 3-on-3 matches, each game plays out like the original sport it's based on, with the addition of cleverly implemented power-ups and unique level designs. RYAN SMITH FOR REDEYE (READ CHICAGONOW.COM/GAMESMITH)

Mountain climber Aron Ralston became world famous after escaping death by cutting off his own arm after being trapped for 127 hours in a crevice in Utah's Blue John Canyon.

In the film, James Franco plays Ralston. Because 90 percent of the film takes place with the main character trapped by a large stone, director Danny Boyle had to find a way to keep what's essentially a one-man play—where his actor is confined to a space the size of a coffin—interesting. He accomplishes this through Franco's Oscar-worthy performance. RICK BENTLEY, THE FRESNO BEE

TV
Breakout Kings
9 p.m. Sunday, A&E

"White Collar" fans will recognize the "It takes a con to catch a con" theme of this predictable drama in which the U.S. Marshals service springs inmates to help catch escaped convicts. The show claims the freed cons bring unique skills, but they offer no special insights I can see. (I, too, would know to question people the escapee once knew.) There's only one reason to watch: Jimmi Simpson, who has delighted as Mary on "Psych" and Liam McPoyle on "It's Always Sunny in Philadelphia." Simpson is the only actor who gives his con-turned-good guy character more than one dimension. CURT WAGNER, REDEYE

Unfunny reunion with '80s clichés

Take Me
Home
Tonight (R)

Like so many brainy high school wallflow-
ers before him,
Matt (Topher Grace) never had the courage to ask out his dream girl, Tori (Teresa Palmer, who played the same role in "The Sorcerer's Apprentice"). A few years later in 1988, with nothing to show for himself but an MIT degree and a job at Suncoast Video, Matt has one shot at one big party—featuring every single person from his graduating class, of course—to finally get Tori's number.

The buzz: Following last year's "Hot Tub Time Machine," March now officially is "'80s Nostalgia Movie Month." Nice to see Anna Faris as Matt's brainy twin sister; not nice to see Dan Fogler ("Fanboys," "Balls of Fury"), who's like a Cinematic Momentum Eraser, as Matt's best friend, Barry.

That guy's agent must be a master of persuasion.

The verdict: Grace (who co-conceived the story) is a great everyman.
Yet even though the film was made in 2007, the now 32-year-old really can't pass for 23. "Take Me Home Tonight" also can't decide how these people got to where they are in their lives, and where that is exactly. It just sands over the details with John Hughes movie clichés that do nothing to revitalize or subvert long-exhausted archetypes about dorks, "unobtainable girls" and

Topher Grace in 'Take Me Home Tonight'

taking chances. (One exception: Trying to be cool at the party, Matt wears sunglasses inside. A distant voice cries out: "Nice shades, [bleep].") The movie aspires to the aimless, dweeby cool of "Adventureland" but comes closer to the obnoxious, kinda-raunchy-but-not-funny naivete of "Can't Hardly Wait." MATT PAIS IS REDEYE'S MOVIE

Truffled eggs? Fork 'em over

When Lincoln Square's Fiddlehead Cafe changed its name to Fork earlier this year, it kept the friendly neighborhood vibe but took on a more gastro-pubby feel. With that, a sprinkling of new brunch dishes joined the weekend menu. We stopped in on a chilly recent Saturday with hopes of warming up from the inside out.

Hangover helper: The pork carnitas sandwich ($10) layers tasty shreds of meat with tomatillo salsa, cilantro and a fried egg on a brioche bun. If you prefer the same flavors in sloppier form, the pork carnitas chilaquiles ($13) are there for you.

Oh so trendy: The tartine—the French word for an open-faced sandwich—is having a bit of a moment right now in the dining scene, what with new spots such as Bistronomic and Maude's Liquor Bar churning them out. Here, the steak 'n' eggs tartine ($13) takes the classic breakfast dish and puts it on a slice of country bread with caramelized onions and A.I. aioli.

We're still thinking about ... the truffled eggs ($12), a heap of scrambled eggs with shiitake mushrooms, truffled goat cheese and arugula between two circles of puff pastry. It somehow managed to be rich and light at once.

Not to be overlooked: An underwhelming choice at most brunch spots, the bagel and lox ($8.50) here is a work of art, with cucumber slices, red onions and tomatoes thoughtfully arranged on top.

Day drinking: Order the mimosa flight ($9.50) for mini versions of Fork's full-

Steak 'n' eggs tartine
JASON LITTLE FOR METROMIX

sized mimosa, Bellini and pomosa (a mimosa with pomegranate juice, of course).

Buzz factor: Sufficient. Servers will keep your cup of organic free-trade Metropolis coffee ($2.95 with refills) filled to the brim.

Is it lunchtime yet? The lunch menu is served along with brunch, so you can sink your teeth into the PBLT, the traditional bacon-lettuce-tomato sammie made with house-smoked pork belly ($13) or the duck club made with smoked duck and cherry-red wine jam ($16.50).

Crowd surfing: Casually clad urbanites and the occasional young family or two fill the circular booths and tables for two along windows looking out onto Lincoln Avenue.

Bottom line: For Lincoln Square denizens who were loyal to Fiddlehead, new dishes provide the perfect excuse to return. And for weekend visitors to the neighborhood's quaint main drag, Fork serves up plenty of solid sustenance worthy of a shopping break.

FELICE HERRIG
STARS IN MMA
VIDEO GAME

SHE'S A KNOCKOUT

By Ryan Smith FOR REDEYE

Female mixed martial arts fighters are still outside of the sports mainstream, but Chicago-area native Felice “Lil’ Bulldog” Herrig is trying to change that. Herrig, 26, on the card for the Chicago Cagefighting Championship on Saturday in Villa Park, is one of two female fighters who will be appearing in the upcoming video game “Supremacy MMA” — marking the first time women will be playable characters in an MMA game. She also is the star of a campaign called “Equal Fights” to help raise the profile of female MMA fighters. Herrig spoke to RedEye about life both in a real cage and a virtual one. RYAN SMITH IS A

Is there much of a difference between female and male fighting in MMA?

There's really not much of a difference. We go in with a mouthpiece and a pair of 4-ounce gloves and that's it, just like the men. I'd say the women tend to not be as well-rounded as men as far as MMA training. Right now, a lot of women come from just a boxing or just a wrestling background. Personally, I started pro MMA with no grappling experience. I grew up in kickboxing and conventional boxing.

How important for you is this new video game you're in?

It's great because there are so many gamers out there. How many people play Xbox and PlayStation? A lot, so that's great exposure that is going to get my name out there and I'm really excited. I feel like it's the biggest thing in my career so far.

How much input have you had in the making of the game?

Well, a big thing for me is the outfits. I try to look cute, sexy and sassy in my custom-made fight skirts. I have a new one made for every fight. In the game, they had me in a sports bra so I had some say in what I looked like. We want to come across as empowering, and our image needs to be who we are. We're not just these rough and tough fighters, we're girls. We're just normal women you'd see in everyday life.

What's the worst injury you've ever received?

In training, I blocked a spinning back kick with my forearm and it broke, even though I already had two metal plates and 12 pins in it from a previous break.

“I feel like it's the biggest thing in my career so far.”

We're all sick of Miami, LeBron James and Co., so watching the Bulls beat them Sunday should give us some satisfaction.

TOPIC

What will the country learn about the Bulls in their game on ABC on Sunday in Miami?

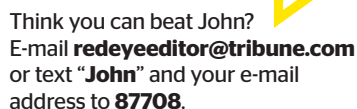

Most casual NBA fans have slept on the Bulls since the Jordan era—they're Bull-dozers.

That Derrick Rose is their 2010-2011 MVP, whether they like it or not.

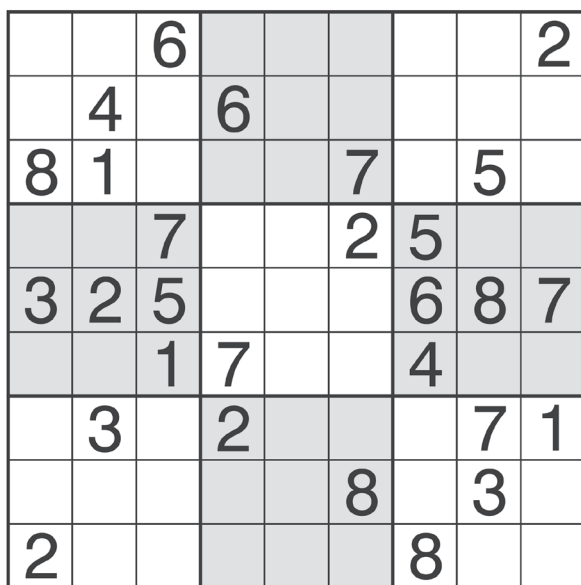

That while Miami may have the “Heatles,” Chicago's got “Guns & (D) Roses.”

Derrick Rose's favorite dog? Cocker spaniel.

That special chip I implanted in Luol Deng is working. It also has a self-destruct mode, though.

Enter a number between 1 and 9 in the empty squares. The clues are the numbers in the white circles that give the sum of the solution numbers: above the line are across clues; below the line are down clues. Thus, a clue of 3 will produce a solution of 2 and 1, and a 5 will produce 4 and 1, or 2 and 3, but, of course, which squares they go in will depend on the solution of a clue in the other direction. No digit can be repeated in a solution. Answer at redvechicago.com/puzzles. EDITED BY MICHAEL MEPHAM

Make a 2- to 7-letter word from the letters in each row. Add points of each word, using scoring directions at right. Finally, 7-letter words get a 50-point bonus. "Blanks" used as any letter have no point value. All the words are in the Official Scrabble Players Dictionary, 4th Edition. Find the answer at redevechicago.com/puzzles.

You remember her from ...

"The Devil Wears Prada," in which she starred as an obedient magazine slave also named Emily alongside Anne Hathaway.

You'll be jealous of who she dated ...

but even more envious over who she married. Blunt and smooth-voiced crooner Michael Buble were a couple for three years, but she ended up marrying dreamy nerdboy John Krasinski. Survey says: Upgrade!

Speaking of nerdboys ...

she's starring alongside Jason Segel in the new "Muppets" movie, due out Nov. 23. We don't know who she's playing yet, but we'd like to reiterate the fact that WE LOVE MUPPETS.

She can do more than act ...

Blunt provided backup vocals on then-boyfriend Buble's cover of "Me and Mrs. Jones." "She nailed it," he told Entertainment Weekly. "And yet, every time the song gets to that part, she turns [the volume] down." Yeah, that can't be awkward now.

While she's very pretty ...

she's also humble. When asked by New York magazine if she could take "Black Swan's" Natalie Portman (left) in a dance-off after undergoing ballet training for "Adjustment Bureau," she replied: "No! I think she'd have my guts for garters." Spoken like a true Brit.

BEING BLUNT

'Adjustment Bureau' star's stock is on the way up

By Dana Moran REDEYE

We've been hearing — and seeing — an awful lot of Emily Blunt lately. The 28-year-old British actress, who stars as the voice of a garden gnome in "Gnomeo & Juliet," pops up as a ballerina opposite Matt Damon in the awkwardly titled "The Adjustment Bureau," which opened Friday. So who is this rising star? Here are five facts to help you get acquainted.

“I love being in my pigeon world. It brings me a calm.”

HOT DATE

APRIL 17

Premiere date of the new reality show “Audrina” on VH1. Debuting at 8 p.m., the show will follow the life of Audrina Patridge, formerly of MTV’s “The Hills,” according to People.com.

Glam on

Don’t expect to hear the patented Adam Lambert wail when he performs “Aftermath” on Thursday’s “American Idol” results show. “Gonna take it down acoustic style,” the Season 8 runner-up tweeted. Glambert also said that a remix will be available on his website Thursday to benefit the Trevor Project, an LGBTQ suicide prevention organization.

Adjustment period is over

Matt Damon is making some adjustments in his support for President Obama. “I really think he misinterpreted his mandate,” Damon, who stars in “The Adjustment Bureau,” told Piers Morgan on Thursday. “A friend of mine said it the other day and I thought it was a great line: ‘I no longer hope for audacity.’”

Just don’t get superfat

Looks like Seth Rogen is returning to his old self. He slimmed down for his role in “The Green Hornet,” but now is gaining back the weight. “I’m slowly outgrowing all the clothes I bought last year,” Rogen told usmagazine.com. “It’s a sad thing. I gave away all my fat clothes, thinking ‘I won’t need these anymore,’ but I do!”

Roll out

Get in line, hipsters. Pitchfork has begun rolling out the lineup for its 2011 festival, set for July 15-17 in Union Park: Animal Collective on Friday, Fleet Foxes and The Dismemberment Plan on Saturday, and TV on the Radio on Sunday. Tickets are on sale now at pitchforkmusicfestival.com.
